Preamble

For Fenix Outdoor International AG, taking responsibility forms part of our corporate culture and philosophy. We believe that we need to build robust and lasting business and stakeholder partnerships. It is of paramount importance for us to be fully understood and that our suppliers and valued business partners share our vision for a prospering global society. Hence, we have set up this Code of Conduct.

The Fenix Outdoor Code of Conduct is a mandatory and non-negotiable requirement that all of our suppliers, including their subcontractors and business partners, must follow. We encourage our partners to adopt a similar Code for themselves and set-up clear and goal-oriented structures and accountability systems in order to be able to monitor the implementation. Throughout the Code of Conduct, the term “supplier” and “factory” is used, standing as universal terms for our suppliers, subcontractors and business partners and their premises.

The Code forms the basis for our business relationships and is therefore an integral component of our agreement with suppliers. Fenix Outdoor expects suppliers to make improvements when the Code of Conduct standards are not met and to develop sustainable mechanisms to ensure ongoing compliance. We offer support and training in how to implement the Code. Fenix Outdoor reserves the right to amend or modify the Fenix Outdoor Code of Conduct at any time.

The Fenix Outdoor Code of Conduct is based on the Fair Labor Association’s (FLA) Workplace Code of Conduct and current international reference documents and standards, including

- The United Nations Global Compact,
- The Universal Declaration of Human Rights,
- The International Labour Organization’s (ILO) Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights to work,
- The Rio Declaration on Environment and Development,
- The United Nations Convention Against Corruption,
- The UN Convention on The Right of the Child,
- The European Convention for the Protection of Animals kept for Farming Purposes, and
- The European Convention for the Protection of Animals during International Transport and the Council Regulation on the protection of animals during transport.

1. Legal requirements

1.1 Compliance with Laws and This Code of Conduct

We expect that our suppliers, in all their activities, comply with the relevant and applicable national laws in the country in which they are operating. Should any of the following requirements by Fenix Outdoor be in violation of the national law in any country or territory, the law in that country take precedence over the Fenix Outdoor Code of Conduct. In such cases immediate reporting to Fenix Outdoor is mandatory in order to decide on how to proceed.

It is important to understand that the requirements of Fenix Outdoor are not limited to the requirements set forth by national law. When legal requirements are less strict than the Code, it is always the Fenix Outdoor Code of Conduct that applies to our suppliers. Suppliers shall apply the highest standards at all times.

In addition to that, we expect that regular and effective workplace standards trainings for workers, managers and supervisors are taking place.

1.2 Corruption, Extortion, Embezzlement and Bribery

We trust that excellence of our products is the key to our business success. Therefore, we will deal with all our customers, suppliers and government agencies in a straightforward manner and in compliance with international anti-bribery standards and local anti-corruption and bribery laws. This includes any transaction that might appear to be arranged for granting concessions or benefits.

Corruption or bribery, extortion, and embezzlement, including any payment or other form of benefit conferred on any government official for the purpose of influencing decision making in violation of law, are strictly prohibited. These actions may lead to the immediate termination of the business relationship with Fenix Outdoor and/or damage claims and legal actions.

2. Requirements for Our Business Partners

2.1 Social Responsibility

No Child Labor

We define, in this context, the word “child” as a person younger than 15 years of age as covered by article 2.3 in the ILO convention No. 138.

Fenix Outdoor does not accept child labor. All measures to prevent child labor shall be implemented taking into account the best interests of the child. These measures should include but are not limited to the collection and maintenance of proof of age documentation such as birth certificates. In those cases where proof of age documentation is not readily available or unreliable, suppliers shall take all necessary precautions which can reasonably be expected of them. To ensure that all workers are at least the minimum working age, (including requesting and maintaining appropriate and reliable records of evidence of workers' ages), employers need to keep copies of official documents and present those upon request.. We believe that children have the right to develop and evolve, having a better and more sustainable lifestyle than us. Their exploitation for short-term gains or benefits is unacceptable.

We base our policy regarding child labor on the ILO convention No.138 recognizing the right of the child to be protected from economic exploitation and from performing any work that is likely to be hazardous or to interfere with the child's education, or to be harmful to the child's health or physical, mental, spiritual, moral or social development. If the minimum employment age, in the country in which a supplier maintains its business is higher than 15 years, then the supplier must adhere to the national law and regulations. Apprentices or vocational students shall not be under the age of 15 or under the age for completion of compulsory education.

Special Protection for Young Workers

We acknowledge that according to the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, article 1., a person is a child until the age of 18. We therefore recommend our suppliers to make sure, that workers in the age group 15-18 years ("young workers") are treated accordingly.

We expect our business partners that employ young workers to ensure that they receive special care and provisions at the workplace. Young workers shall be protected against conditions of work, which are prejudicial to their health, safety, morals and development. We further expect our business partners to ensure that their working hours do not interfere with participation in educational training programs recognized by competent bodies.

Enforcement

If a supplier does not accept our policy on child labor, we will not engage in a relationship or discontinue our co-operation with this supplier.

Labor Contracts

All workers shall be entitled to a written employment contract that contains an accurate, complete and understandable summary of the terms and conditions of employment, including wages, benefits and working conditions. This also counts for foreign, migrant, temporary or home workers, who in any case are not to be treated less favorably. Fenix Outdoor expects our suppliers to ensure that all employees are aware of their legal rights and obligations. We request our business partners to have written policies and procedures regulating the recruitment and hiring of contract, contingent and temporary workers in place. Temporary workers shall only be hired if one of the following conditions is met: The permanent workforce of the enterprise is not sufficient to meet unexpected or unusually large volume of orders; exceptional circumstances may result in great financial loss to the supplier if delivery of goods cannot be met on time; or work that needs to be done and is outside the professional expertise of the permanent workforce.

Working Hours

We expect our suppliers to comply with the maximum number of regular working hours laid down in the applicable laws of the country in which a supplier maintains its business premises. This limit shall not exceed 48 hours a week as stated in the ILO convention No.1. In exceptional circumstances as covered by article 2 to 5 in the ILO convention No.1, the limit of 48 hours a week can be extended. Further our business partner shall comply to all legal requirements governing work hours of protected workers such as pregnant and young workers.

Workers are entitled to at least one day (24 consecutive hours) of rest in every seven-day period.

Overtime work must always be voluntary and compensated in accordance with applicable law and at premium rates (at least 1,25 times the regular rate). Overtime shall not be requested on a regular basis. The hours shall not exceed the numbers allowed by the law of the country. The sum of regular and overtime working hours shall never exceed 60 hours a week. Exceptional circumstances need to be flagged to the respective Fenix Outdoor entity well in advance.

Suppliers shall ensure that all workers have the right to refuse to work overtime hours. Under no circumstances shall a supplier impose punitive measures such as salary deductions, apply coercion of any kind, deny future opportunities for overtime, threaten deportation, or take disciplinary action against workers for refusing overtime. Suppliers shall not set production quotas or piecework rates at such a level that workers need to work beyond regular working hours to earn the legal minimum wage or prevailing industry wage (excluding overtime).

The workers should be granted their stipulated annual leave and sick leave without any form of repercussions.

Workers should be given their stipulated maternity and/or parental leave in case of pregnancy.

In developing countries, we recommend that our suppliers provide the workers with at least one free meal a day.

Time Recording and Work Hour Management

Suppliers should implement effective policies and systems to accurately record all working hours, including regular time, overtime, breaks, and leave, in both normal and exceptional circumstances. Time worked by all employees, regardless of wage type, must be documented using reliable methods such as timecards or electronic/mechanical systems. The use of multiple or duplicate timekeeping systems is strictly prohibited. All time-records must be authentic and accurate. Suppliers must also protect workers who report concerns about falsified or duplicate time records, even where such protection is not legally required.

Compensation / Wages

Fenix Outdoor has committed to a fair compensation policy, which you can find on our website.

Every worker in a regular work week has the right to an income that meets his or her basic needs and provides some discretionary income. The legal minimum wages should be a minimum requirement, but not a recommended level. We expect our suppliers to provide fair remuneration and to guarantee the applicable national statutory minimum wage, the prevailing industry wage or the wage negotiated in collective agreements, whichever is higher, and provide any fringe benefits required by law or contract. This shall include all types of employment forms such as probationary workers, apprentices and vocational workers, contract, contingent, migrant or temporary workers. They should receive at least the same compensation as regular workers performing the same job functions or tasks with similar levels of experience or seniority. Where compensation does not meet worker's basic needs and provide some discretionary income, each employer shall take appropriate actions that seek to progressively realize a level of compensation that does.

Production targets, piece rates or any other incentive or production system should not be set at a level that forces workers to work beyond regular working hours as set under the FLA Workplace Code, excluding overtime, to earn at least the Fenix Outdoor minimum expectations as stipulated above. Moreover, shall production targets, piecework, or any other incentive or production system not be set at such a level that the payment for overtime work performed is less than the premium pay required by law or the FLA Workplace Code.

Wages must be paid regularly, on time and be fair in respect of the worker's experience, qualification and work performance. Fenix Outdoor does not accept deductions as a disciplinary measure. In case wage advances are paid, they shall not exceed three months' pay or legal limits, whichever is less and no interest may be charged.

No Forced Labor

We do not tolerate forced or compulsory labor that is deemed to be illegal in the production of goods for Fenix Outdoor, including any form of bonded labor, serfdom, slavery or slave-like practices, trafficking in human beings or any other involuntary labor and services that are not in conformity with internationally recognized labor and social standards. All work must be voluntary and without threat of punishment. Employees must be able to terminate their work or employment at any time.

Fenix Outdoor does not accept that bonded workers or prisoners are used in the production of Fenix Outdoor goods.

There shall be no restrictions on the worker's right to leave the workplace.

Workers shall not be required to lodge "deposits" or their identity papers with their employer.

Any commissions and other fees to recruitment agencies in connection with the employment of foreign, migrant or temporary workers should be covered by the employer. Never should these workers be required to remain employed for an extended period of time against their own will. They shall always have the right to terminate their employment freely.

No workers shall receive employment terms which allow employers, employment agencies, or intermediaries to either hold wages that are already earned; to use earned back wages as penalties; or in any way punishes workers for terminating their employment.

Forced and compulsory labor condition can also arise if workers are obliged to financially contribute to recruitment procedures, visa/permits, dormitories, etc. We therefore want to emphasize our no-tolerance to forced and compulsory labor conditions as follows:

- No worker pays for their job or right to work.
- Workers retain control of their travel documents and have full freedom of movement; and
- All workers are informed of the basic terms of their employment prior to the start on the job or possible resettlements.

We strongly encourage facilities in our direct and indirect value chain or supplying to other Fenix Outdoor business units to also work to the above principles and establish a migrant worker recruitment “zero-fees” policy if recruitment or broker fees are occurring. We apply the ILO definition of recruitment fees and costs.

We expect our business partners to have a written corporate policy or code of conduct for the hiring and employment of migrant workers, which sets out specific protections for migrant workers throughout the timespan of employment (including resignation, termination, and repatriation of migrant workers) in accordance with applicable laws, the mentioned ILO definitions, and the Fenix Outdoor Code of Conduct.

The supplier’s zero-fee policy shall be communicated to and included in legally binding service contracts with all third-party labor brokers involved in the recruitment and employment of migrant workers. We expect our business partners to have a comprehensive process in place to monitor its own and third-party labor broker’s compliance with the policy.

Reimbursement of recruitment or broker fees where applicable

Reimbursement for migrant workers hired on the date or before this CoC was sent: Where a migrant worker, hired on the date or before this CoC was sent, has paid recruitment fees and expenses payable by the supplier under this CoC, the supplier shall reimburse such fees and expenses to the worker within 30 days of the worker’s date of hire.

Migrant Workers hired before March 1, 2024: Where a migrant worker working at the Supplier’s facility on or after March 1, 2024 was hired before March 1, 2024, and paid recruitment fees and expenses payable by the supplier under this CoC, the supplier shall reimburse such fees and expenses in excess of the applicable legal limits to the worker before December 31, 2024 or the end of the worker’s contract, whichever is sooner. Reimbursement of fees more than the legal limit may be made in installments up to December 31, 2024, or the end of the worker’s contract, whichever is sooner. If there are no legal limits applicable then, the supplier shall reimburse such fees and expenses more than the worker’s one month net wage. One month net wage includes regular working hours included in the contract of employment up to a maximum of 48 total working hours per week. Allowances and bonuses can only be included in the calculation where they are contractually guaranteed as a fixed amount per pay period. Variable bonuses, overtime hours, or “at risk” incentives tied to production volumes or other performance measures may not be included in the calculation.

Freedom of Movement

Toilets: No one shall restrict worker access to toilets in any manner, including limiting toilet breaks or non-payment of toilet breaks.

Physical movement: No one shall restrict worker's freedom of movement inside the place of production or supplier-provided facilities, including the worker's accommodation, except where necessary for worker safety.

Curfew: No one shall impose curfews or geographical limits on worker movement beyond supplier-provided accommodation. Where necessary for the privacy, security of the property of the employer or safety of workers, exceptions may apply but the supplier shall not restrict or limit legitimate visitors to worker's accommodation. No terms imposed by the employer, agencies or intermediaries shall confine or restrict employees' freedom of movement or free transit.

Personal leave: Migrant workers shall be free to return to their home country during periods of annual or personal leave without having to pay any form of deposit. They shall be free from the threat of termination or other penalty.

Workplace entrances: If workplace entrances are locked or guarded to prevent nonemployee access to the premises for security reasons, workers shall always have free egress.

Suppliers shall not prevent any migrant worker from contacting his or her sending (or home) country Embassy or Consulate.

Identity Document Retention

Workers shall not be required to lodge "deposits" or their identity papers with their employer. Workers shall retain possession and control of their personal identity documents, such as passports, identity papers, travel documents, and other personal legal documents at all times. The only permitted exception is after workers' arrival in the receiving country where there is a short term need to make original identity documents available to government agencies for the processing of visas, work permits or other legally mandated purposes.

Suppliers shall not require surrender of original identity documents, withhold identity documents, or restrict workers' access to their identity documents under any circumstances.

Suppliers may obtain and retain copies of workers' original identity documents.

Third party recruiters, employment agents, and labor brokers are expressly prohibited from holding workers personal identity documents.

Respectful Treatment

Every worker shall be treated with respect and dignity. Fenix Outdoor expects the suppliers to respect the personal dignity, privacy and rights of each individual and to prohibit any kind of violence and assault at the workplace, including threatening and intimidating behavior and performance of the worker. The workers shall be free to lodge complaints with their superiors. They have the right to directly approach us, should they feel more comfortable in doing so. The management of each factory is obliged to inform their workers about this code and to display our contact details including the Email-Hotline compliance@fenixoutdoor.se or the QR Code to our whistleblowing hotline as displayed in chapter 3.3.

Under no circumstances does Fenix Outdoor accept that our suppliers use humiliation or corporal punishment or other forms of mental or physical disciplinary actions. No worker shall be subject to physical, sexual, psychological or verbal harassment or abuse. Suppliers shall have written disciplinary rules and procedures in place which are applied in a fair and nondiscriminatory manner. They shall include a management review of the actions by someone senior to the manager who imposed the disciplinary action, written records of all disciplinary actions as well as the right of workers to participate and be heard in any disciplinary procedure against them.

All workers should be entitled to his or her basic rights.

No Discrimination

No worker should be discriminated on the basis of race, national origin, ethnicity, political opinion, social group, religion, age, sexual orientation, gender, marital status, health, disability or other classes protected by law or universal principles of the United Nations. Suppliers shall ensure that the workplace is free of any form of harsh, abusive, or inhumane treatment. The use or threat of physical or sexual violence, harassment and intimidation against a worker, his or her family, or co-workers is strictly prohibited. Frontline supervisors and managers shall receive ongoing training on positive management techniques.

All workers possessing the same experience and qualifications should receive equal conditions during employment, including hiring, compensation, advancement, discipline, termination or retirement. We expect our suppliers to promote equal opportunities for and treatment of its workers irrespective of the above-mentioned reasons.

Dismissal of pregnant workers, or workers during parental leave, or following their return to work, is not acceptable. Workers taking parental leave (male or female) shall be entitled to return to their employment on the same terms and conditions that applied to them prior to taking leave and they shall not be subject to any discrimination, loss of seniority or deduction of wages.

Freedom of Association and the Right to Collective Bargaining

Fenix Outdoor respects the workers' right to freedom of association and collective bargaining. All workers should be free to join associations of their own choosing, and they should have the right to bargain collectively.

We do not accept any disciplinary or discriminatory actions from the factory against workers who organize or join an association as well as sanctions on workers organizing or having participated in a strike in accordance with ILO standards and jurisprudence. We expect our suppliers to recognize and respect, as far as covered by the national laws or international standards, the workers' right to freedom of association and to neither favor nor discriminate against members of employee organizations or trade unions. We encourage the interaction with workers representatives, civil society groups as well as trade unions. On the other hand, we advise to refrain from interfering in the formation or activities of workers' organizations including actions aimed at establishing or promoting the domination, financing or control of workers' organizations by employers. Furthermore, our suppliers shall provide an enabling environment to ensure that employees can exercise their rights in a lawful and peaceful manner.

Access to and remedy of grievances

In accordance with the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, suppliers shall establish or participate in effective, operational-level grievance mechanisms that are inclusive to migrant workers considering social, cultural factors and language differences. There shall be a mechanism that allows workers to report grievances confidentially. Suppliers must commit to remediating violations including repayment of any recruitment fees and related costs to the worker in a timely manner. The supplier shall confirm with the workers when the remedy has been fully provided and if there have been any positive or negative outcomes (for example better treatment or retaliatory treatment, adequate or inadequate health care or stigma). If negative outcomes are confirmed, the supplier shall take additional actions to address the remaining issues before the incident can be closed. Workers should not fear and be protected at all times from retaliation for raising grievances. Suppliers also commit to set up regular trainings for their workers of their established grievance mechanism. It should be ensured that those trainings are effective.

Termination and Retrenchment

Suppliers shall maintain proper and accurate records in relation to termination and retrenchment. When faced with major changes in production, programs, organization, structure, or technology and those changes are likely to result in temporary or permanent layoffs, suppliers shall communicate any alternatives to retrenchment that have been considered and consult any workers' representatives as early as possible with a view to averting or minimizing layoffs. Where temporary or permanent layoffs are unavoidable, a plan should be developed and implemented that mitigates the adverse effects of such changes on workers and their communities. The plan should be clearly communicated, posted and include feedback channels for workers to ask questions and provide feedback. Retrenched workers shall receive opportunity to transfer to other owned facilities in the country at a comparable wage and suppliers should make all efforts to facilitate re-employment in other enterprises in the country.

2.2 Health and Safety at Workplace

All workers shall be provided a safe and healthy workplace setting to prevent accidents and injury to health arising out of, linked with, or occurring in the course of work or as a result of the operation of suppliers' facilities. Fenix Outdoor expects its supplier to take responsibility for the health and safety of their workers and to control hazards and take the best reasonably possible precautionary measures against accidents and occupational diseases.

Fenix Outdoor requires from its suppliers that the safety and health of the workers should be a priority at all times. No hazardous equipment or unsafe buildings are accepted. Suppliers shall adopt responsible measures to mitigate negative impacts that the workplace has on the environment.

The factory shall at all times be in possession of all applicable certificates and permits related to health and safety issues.

Excessive physical or mental fatigue shall be prevented by appropriate measures. In addition, we expect that employees are regularly informed and trained about applicable health and safety standards and measures. We further expect that employees are provided with access to drinking water in sufficient quantity and access to clean sanitary facilities. If accommodations are provided for employees, these requirements also apply.

Building and Fire Safety

The factory should have clearly marked exits, and preferably emergency exits on all floors. All exit doors should open outwards. Exits should not be blocked by any items such as cartons, fabric rolls or debris, and should be well lit. If emergency exits are locked, the keys should be placed behind breakable glass next to the doors, and thus be available to staff at all times.

All workers should be aware of the safety arrangements in the factory, such as emergency exits, fire extinguisher, first aid equipment, etc.

An evacuation plan should be displayed in the factory and the fire alarm should be tested regularly. Evacuation drills should be performed at least once a year and emergency lighting should be installed and maintained.

All buildings shall be safe, maintained and checked regularly.

First Aid

First aid equipment must be available in each factory and at least one person in each department should have training in basic first aid and firefighting techniques. Trainings shall be provided upon hire and with periodic refresher training. The employer should pay any costs (not covered by the social security) which a worker may incur for medical care, following an injury during work in the factory.

It is recommended that a doctor or nurse is available at short notice, in case of an accident in the factory.

Factory Conditions

A safe and healthy working environment shall be provided to prevent accidents and injury to health arising out of, linked with or occurring in the course of work or as a result of the operation of the supplier's facility.

It is important for the workers' well-being that the factory environment is clean and free from pollution.

The temperature in the factory should be tolerable as a working environment, and the ventilation should be adequate. Heaters or fans should be provided when needed.

The lighting at each workstation should be sufficient for the work that is being performed, at all times of day.

Sanitary facilities should be clean, in an operational condition and the workers shall have access without restrictions. Necessary sanitary equipment shall be provided on the expenses of the employer (toilet paper, soap, disinfectant and alike). The number of facilities should be adequate for the number of workers in the factory. Sanitary facilities shall preferably be separated for men and women.

Access to drinking water should be given without any restrictions in terms of frequency and time.

Pregnant Workers and New Mothers

Fenix Outdoor's suppliers shall abide protective provisions benefiting pregnant workers and new mothers, including temporary reassignments away from workstations and work environments that may pose a risk to the health of pregnant woman and their unborn children. If such protective provisions are not existent by national law, suppliers shall take reasonable measures to ensure the safety and health of pregnant woman and their unborn children.

We recommend our suppliers to make temporary adjustments of working hours during and after pregnancy.

Factories shall provide new mothers with breast-feeding breaks and facilities.

We recommend that factories with female workers arrange day care for children below school age.

Housing Conditions

If a factory provides housing facilities for its staff, the requirements regarding safety and health conditions, under point 2.3 "Health and Safety at Workplace", should also be applicable to the workers' housing area.

All workers must be provided with his or her own bed, and the living space per worker must meet the minimum legal requirements. It is expected that minimum standards regarding privacy and personal sphere are kept and that an employer considers the housing in a way as if he himself ought to live in the space provided.

Separate dormitories as well as toilets and showers shall be provided for men and women.

There should be no restrictions on the workers' rights to leave the dormitory.

If the dormitory is not being used by the workers, there shall be no fee taken from the salary to pay for it.

In particular, Fenix Outdoor wants to stress the importance of fire alarms, fire extinguishers, unobstructed emergency exits, evacuation drills (at least once a year or according to law) and safe buildings in dormitory areas (see point 2.3 "Health and Safety at Workplace").

Preservation of Natural Livelihoods

Our suppliers shall not, in violation of legitimate rights, deprive land, forests or waters, of which the use secures the livelihood of persons. We expect our business partners to refrain from harmful soil changes, water and air pollution, noise emissions, and excessive water consumption if this harms the health of persons, significantly impairs the natural basis for the production of food or prevents the access of persons to safe drinking water or sanitary facilities.

Rights of Local Communities and Indigenous People

Our suppliers shall respect applicable local, national, international, and traditional land, water, and resource rights, particularly those of indigenous communities. If legally permitted land use changes are made or water or resources of local communities are consumed or impacted, our business partners shall obtain the free, prior and informed consent of the affected communities and document this process. We do not accept unlawful evictions.

Security Forces

We do not tolerate any violence by security forces. We expect regular trainings in how to act with dignity and respect towards workers and visitors to the premises.

2.3 Environmental Responsibility

Protection of the Environment

Fenix Outdoor's companies depend on people enjoying a clean, diverse and healthy nature. We therefore take particular interest in the reduction of environmental damages and the protection and enhancement of natural habitats and biodiversity. Therefore, our suppliers must comply with all applicable environmental laws and regulations in the country of operation and show efforts going beyond legal compliance. We expect our suppliers to make every effort to reduce the environmental impact of their business by adopting the best practice principles and continuously seeking improved methods to minimize any adverse environmental impact of their operations.

We recommend that our suppliers minimize production waste and spill. Water usage shall be monitored and we recommend to reduce the total volume of usage by looking at recycling of water or innovative alternative processes. Effluent treatment plants (ETPs) shall be properly operated, used and maintained as well as be appropriate for the types of effluents generated from the operations. Energy usage shall be monitored and we recommend using renewable energy whenever possible.

To achieve these goals, we expect our business partners to manage material environmental matters in an appropriate and effective manner.). We strongly recommend joining us in implementing the Higg Index (higg.org) of the Sustainable Apparel Coalition (SAC). We expect all suppliers to give a comprehensive account of their environmental activities by the end of each year.

Climate Protection

We expect our business partners to actively support efforts of the industry and societies to halt climate change. Business partners shall implement avoidance and reduction strategies to contribute to achieving the targets agreed within the framework of the Paris Agreement of December 12, 2015, notably the 1.5-degree scenario. We expect our business partners to be able to provide evidence of the measures taken regarding the reduction of their carbon footprint.

Chemical Management

Chemicals or other materials that pose a hazard when released into the environment shall be identified and handled in a manner that ensures safety during their handling, transport, storage, use, recycling or reuse, and disposal.

According to Fenix Outdoor's chemical guideline and restricted substances list, we do not allow the use of certain hazardous chemicals in the production of our articles or any precursors. All of our suppliers must sign the Fenix Outdoor Chemical Guideline, confirming that no prohibited chemical substances will be used in the production and ensure that their suppliers and partners adhere to it as well. When the suppliers have a choice between two chemicals that serve the same purpose, they should choose the chemical that is the least harmful to the environment.

We expect that all products offered to us comply with the most recent REACH regulations and are in line with the California Proposition 65 Act. The Rotterdam Convention on the Prior Informed Consent Procedure for Certain Hazardous Chemicals and Pesticides shall be complied with.

Handling Waste and Hazardous Materials

Our business partners shall follow a systematic approach to identify, handle, reduce, and responsibly dispose or recycle solid waste. We expect that prohibitions on export of hazardous wastes in the Basel Convention of March 22, 1989, as amended, are observed. We further expect Mercury to be used in accordance with the prohibitions of the Minamata Convention of October 10, 2013, and persistent organic pollutants in accordance with the Stockholm Convention of May 23, 2001, as amended.

2.4 Wool, feathers and down, leather and other products from animals

Animals shall never be subjected to harsh or cruel treatment. Taking the lives of animals must at all times be conducted using the quickest, least painful and non-traumatic method available. Products from animals that are not intended for human consumption are generally not used.

Fenix Outdoor has committed to an animal welfare policy, which can be found on our website.

Fenix Outdoor does not accept:

- real fur in clothing, accessories or in any other Fenix Outdoor products.
- plucking or harvesting of feathers or down from live birds or feathers or down from force-fed birds.
- the practice of sheep mulesing
- the maltreatment of sheep during sheering or raising as a result of taskwork or alike
- products from animals which have been slaughtered without stunning
- products from animals which are not primarily intended for human consumption.

Animals shall be treated in accordance with the European Convention for the protection of animals kept for farming purposes. This means, for example, that the animals shall receive:

- proper and sufficient food and water,

- adequate shelter and a comfortable resting area,
- opportunity to perform normal patterns of behavior,
- minimization of pain and distress during handling,
- minimization of mental suffering during handling,
- protection from disease by prevention or rapid diagnosis and treatment.

Animals that are transported shall be treated in accordance with the latest version of the European Convention for the protection of animals during international transport and the Council regulation on the protection of animals during transport. This means, for example that:

- transportation must be carefully planned in order to minimize transportation times,
- only healthy animals may be transported, no sick or pregnant animals,
- during transportation, water, feed and rest shall be offered to animals at suitable intervals in appropriate quality and quantity with regard to their species and size
- transportation of live animals should be replaced by the transportation of germ cells or carcasses wherever possible.

2.5 Data Protection

Fenix Outdoor suppliers shall not disclose information that is not known to the general public for personal gain or the benefit of anyone other than the company. Such information includes technical data, financial data, operating data, customer information, memoranda or other information regarding the company's business and operational activities and future plans. Exceptions are subject to written approvals such as in industry-wide efforts and experience sharing across companies and facilities. All rules and provisions of the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) apply.

3. Implementation and Monitoring

3.1 Implementation of the Requirements

We expect all our suppliers to respect this Code of Conduct and to actively do their utmost to comply with our standards. We further expect our suppliers to ensure that their supply chain is also informed about the content of this Code and adheres to the standards listed here.

We trust our own staff to take a high level of responsibility for their work, and we expect our suppliers to do the same as we consider them forming part of "us". We believe in partnership and we are willing to work with our suppliers to achieve workable solutions in each individual case.

We are willing to take in consideration cultural differences and other factors that may vary from country to country, but we will not compromise on our basic requirements regarding our ethical standards, including safety and human rights.

3.2 Monitoring

Fenix Outdoor reserves the right to monitor compliance with regard to the principles and requirements set forth in this Code of Conduct. All suppliers are obliged to keep Fenix Outdoor informed at all times where each order is being produced. Fenix Outdoor has the right to make periodic and unannounced visits to all factories producing our goods, at any time. However, these inspections shall take place in accordance with the applicable laws and without compromising the business activities of the supplier. As a general rule the inspections take place every other year.

Fenix Outdoor is a member to the Fair Labor Association (FLA). The FLA, at its own discretion, decides on random audits regarding compliance with this Code and the Fair Labor Association's Workplace Code (www.fairlabor.org). All partners in our supply chain are obliged to grant FLA appointees access to their premises.

We also reserve the right to allow an independent third party of our choice to conduct audits for ensuring compliance with our Code of Conduct. During audits Fenix Outdoor requires access to all documents and areas and to all employees for confidential interviews. Fenix Outdoor ensures that personal data is handled in accordance with applicable legal guidelines on the protection of personal information and anti-trust regulations.

3.3 Reporting of Violations

All employees, business partners and third parties are asked to report any violation of this Code and/or applicable law to us. This is in conformity with the DIRECTIVE (EU) 2019/1937 on the protection of persons who report breaches of Union law.

The workers shall be free to lodge complaints with their superiors. They have the right to directly approach us, should they feel more comfortable in doing so. The management of each factory is obliged to inform their workers about this code and to display our contact details.

If you want to lodge a violation, please contact compliance@fenixoutdoor.se. Instead, in order to anonymously report relevant incidences please go to fenixoutdoor.ethicspoint.com or fenixoutdoor-mobile.ethicspoint.com or scan the following QR Code:

3.4 Non-compliance

Should we find that a supplier does not comply with the Fenix Outdoor Code of Conduct, we reserve the right to demand corrective measures within a week or other appropriate time frames according to the severity of violation. We offer support in setting up a corrective action plan and will follow up the risk minimization efforts in accordance with our Social Compliance Guideline, statutory and FLA membership requirements.

We reserve the right to terminate our business relationship with this supplier, if corrective measures are not taken within this suitable and agreed time limit. We have committed to follow the FLA recommendations when exiting a factory. The FLA recommends assessing the company's production capacity in that factory and determine if there is a risk of retrenchment. In case there is, companies are expected to follow the FLA Retrenchment Guidelines.

Significant breaches of the Fenix Outdoor Code of Conduct will not be accepted and may lead to the immediate termination of the relationship with Fenix Outdoor's respective entity.

3.5 Amendments

We reserve the right to amend or modify the Code of Conduct from time to time.
